Country music is the art of telling a tale. You as the bass player take the backseat and assume the most basic role, keeping rhythm. Fancy bass lines and fills are not necessary for country music because the focus of the song is on the lyrical, story-telling aspect. This article explains the basics of how to play bass guitar for country music.

If you want the country sound, get yourself an old Peavey T-40. The T-40 was to country music in the 80's what the P-bass was to rock in the 60's. They really were ahead of their time and the electronics in those things can do a pretty amazing variety of tones. I see them all the time on ebay for around $200 bucks in really good condition.
