In Bruges

What drove me to seeing 'In Bruges' in the first place was primarily great actors like Brendan Gleeson and Ralph Fiennes, and also for the concept and Bruges itself. 'In Bruges' is definitely not for all tastes, one can say that for a lot of films but 'In Bruges' is one of the more extreme examples.

In Bruges (2008) - IMDb

In Bruges is a 2008 British-American black comedy crime film written and directed by Martin McDonagh. This movie is McDonagh's debut feature-length movie. The film stars Colin Farrell and Brendan Gleeson as two Irish hitmen in hiding, with Ralph Fiennes as their enraged boss. The film is set and was filmed in Bruges, Belgium.

Synopsis The movie, a very dark comedy, begins in Bruges (a beautiful medieval city in Belgium) with two Irish hitmen, Ray (Colin Farrell) and Ken (Brendan Gleeson) are standing in a city square checking out the scenery. Instantly we see that Ken is enchanted with Bruges while Ray loathes the place.

In Bruges (2008) - Plot Summary - IMDb

The title of IN BRUGES is increasingly resonant, as two hit men -- Ray (Colin Farrell) and Ken (Brendan Gleeson) -- are dispatched to Belgium following a botched job in London. Ray hates the place, so full of history, while Ken is moved by the art and architecture. Each man's reaction to Bruges parallels his moral journey.

In Bruges Movie Review - Common Sense Media

In his feature debut, "In Bruges," he has made a remarkable first film, as impressive in its own way as " House of Games," the first film by David Mamet, who McDonagh is sometimes compared with. Yes, it's a "thriller," but one where the ending seems determined by character and upbringing rather than plot requirements.
