Marantz PM 5004 is one of the best amplifier that you can get for your money, you can get similarly priced Yamaha amplifiers with 100w power, but just do a A-B comparison and you will get it that wattage doesn't really equate to sound quality. For the money you can't get an amplifier with similar sound quality and for those wondering if it's good enough to replace your t-amps. I can guarantee you this amp is much much better sounding than any t-amps in the market today.

As far as power, when I originally auditioned my speakers in about 1980, a number of 30-35 watt per channel amplifiers struggled to drive them, and for thirty years I used a 45W/channel amp (45/8ohm, 55/4 ohm). To my delight, this Marantz PM5004 has no trouble at all powering these old (refurbished) speakers. I rarely turn the volume over 1/3.
